

END OF A RED NOSE

Low Fresh-Colored Product That Heals and Hides Skin Imperfections.

A peculiar feature of posam, a new skin discovery, is that it is naturally flesh-colored and contains no grease, so that when used on the face for the complexion, or for pimples, red noses, or any other skin blemishes, it is not detected. It can thus be applied at any time, the natural color of the skin being immediately restored and the actual healing and curing process accomplished in a few days. It is the best of any pharmaceutical product for the face. The famous Philadelphia's Pharmacy makes a specialty of it. Fifty cents worth will answer either for the troubles mentioned or in curing ordinary cases of eczema. Itching stops at once.

Any one who will write to the Emergency Laboratory, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York, can secure, by mail free of charge, a supply sufficient to cure a small eczema surface or clear a face of overnight and remove pimples in twenty-four hours.

Credit Gives Ability to Dress Well.

Everything in the way of good, fashionable clothing is to be had at the store of Caesar Misch, Inc., for the mere asking of credit. This is given cheerfully, as many pains are taken to satisfy and accommodate the customer without the usually necessary cash, as though the purchaser would make immediate payment. And while a display is opened up to the person looking with the knowledge that any article which catches the fancy or is really necessary can be taken without the disagreeable thought of "this is more than I can afford." A small first payment, the balance, however, amounts by the week or month that are made to suit each personal convenience is cheerful credit as extended by Caesar Misch, Inc. The ladies' department is most complete in its reasonable display of fineries and necessities. Ladies' linen suits are extensively shown, the balance, however, amounts by the week or month that are made to suit each personal convenience is cheerful credit as extended by Caesar Misch, Inc. The Prospective Better Half—But seriously, George, am I the only girl that—

He—Now, Amy, dear, don't ask if you are the only girl that I ever loved. You know as well as I—the Prospective Better Half—I wasn't going to, George. I started to ask, "Am I the only girl that would have you?"—Puck.

Real status.

Not long ago a certain young man went to publish the banns of his marriage with his best girl. On the sexton putting the question, "Is she a widow or spinster?" the young man replied, "No, sir; she is a sister in a boot and shoe warehouse."—Birmingham (England) Post.

"How did you cure yourself of insomnia?" "I let a lot of my day's work unlabored and tried to stay awake and do it at night."—Exchange.

Light and Sound.

Light travels so vastly much faster than sound that there is no comparison between their velocities. The velocity of light is about 180,000 miles a second. At this speed light will travel about eight times around the earth in a second, and light starting from the sun will traverse the 93,000,000 miles of space intervening between the sun and the earth in eight minutes. So it is seen light flashes from one part of the earth to another, even the most remote, instantaneously, or practically so. Sound travels worse than a snail's pace as compared with light, going only about 1,100 feet in a second, or about a mile in five seconds, or twelve miles in a minute. These facts are noticed, though not always understood, by any one who sees a gun fired only a few hundred yards away. The flash and the puff of smoke are seen instantaneously; the report of the gun always comes perceptibly later, the time intervening being greater or less, according to the distance.

Catching the Early Spider.

One must be an early riser if he would photograph a spider's web, for the delicate fabric must be taken when the dew is yet on it, so that the outlines will be in sharp relief. The best success is obtained when the webs are on pine trees, and spiders seem to favor these trees because of the shelter they afford. Look on the least exposed side of the tree for your web, for the camera teaches the little creatures to make their homes where the strong winds do not strike. In taking the picture the lens should be brought very near the web, in order to make the threads as large as possible. I have photographed a spider's web with a 4 by 5 camera and with a 6 by 8 instrument, having equally good success in each case. It is well to have a rubber focusing cloth and to keep it over the camera all the time, for the person who hunts spiders' webs early in the morning must be prepared for dampness.—Suburban Life.

The Term "Greenhorn."

The term "greenhorn" originated in this way: The pioneers of the west were much given to hunting deer. It was a fact known to early settlers that when the horn of a fawn began to grow there was a ring of green hair around the spot. It was considered a disgraceful thing for a hunter to kill a fawn, a cruel act, and the killing time was regulated by the growth of the horn. There was a sort of unwritten law that no one should kill a male fawn before its horn could be seen. A person who was so thoughtless as to kill a deer under the proper age was called a "greenhorn." He was so named because the young horn of the deer and the hair around it were still green. The use of the appellation gradually spread until it was applied to all raw or inexperienced youths or persons easily imposed upon.

Dry Weather Plants.

In damp regions the roots of perennial plants sink deeply and sustain a great growth above ground. In a moderately dry climate plants develop bulky roots and store up supplies which outlast the summer drought, or the plants themselves, as in the case of the cactus, become fleshy reservoirs of water and food. In the extreme desert neither of these resources is available, and perennial herbs are consequently few. Only stunted shrubs and hardy annuals are able to exist at all, the former growing very slowly, with toughness of texture, the latter flourishing briefly during the spring rains, devoting little energy to making stem or leaves or flowers—mostly inconspicuous and wind fertilized—and hastening (while sometimes still of very small size) to perfect the seeds by which alone the species will survive until the next year's short period of wetness gives a possibility of germination and growth.—Harper's Magazine.

The Professor's Letters.

A professor in a German school in order to teach his pupils letter writing recently conceived the happy idea of having them compose business letters which were inclosed in envelopes and correctly addressed to various merchants in the town. In the evening Herr Professor, having carried the varied epistles home for correction, left them on his table and, as was his custom, hid himself in the cellar. It happened, however, that he had a careful domestic, who, seeing all the letters properly addressed, at once concluded that her master had forgotten to mail them, and out of the goodness of her heart she stamped them and hurried to the post. The stupefaction of the village merchants upon opening their mail the following morning may be imagined, and the amusing part of the incident is that many of the letters which contained lengthy orders for goods, were taken seriously and the orders promptly filled.—St. Louis Republic.

The Professor's Fault.

In the first edition of St. Matthew in Micmac for the Indians of Nova Scotia the translator found when he came to revise it that in chapter xiv, 7, instead of "nation shall rise against nation" he had written "a pair of snowshoes shall rise up against a pair of snowshoes." But there was only one letter misprinted, naoktunkumikajik (a nation) having been displaced by naoktunkumikajik (a snowshoe).—St. James Gazette.

The Cause of Earthquakes.

When there is an earthquake the Tibetans know just how it happened. There are evil spirits. "Some of them are gigantic brutes a mile in height, with tiny mouths which prevent them swallowing even the smallest crumb of any kind of food. Naturally they suffer from hunger, and in their agonized writhings they are the immediate cause of earthquakes."

Well Fertilized.

Some years ago Mark Twain's home in Hartford was invaded with scarlet fever. The disease raged for some weeks, when heroic measures were taken to disinfect the house. "We had a fumigator so strong," said Mark Twain, "that it took all the brass of the door knobs and all the tune out of the piano."

Foley's Honey and Tar is especially recommended for chronic throat and lung troubles and many sufferers from bronchitis, asthma and consumption have found comfort and relief by using Foley's Honey and Tar. F. B. Brill, local agent.
